About The Free Theatre

The Free Theatre provides an inclusive, supportive environment in which high school students have the opportunity to be at the helm of the collaborative and creative process of producing theatre, regardless of financial means. The Free Theatre was formed in June 2018 by a small group of dedicated high school seniors with the desire and drive to create a non-profit 501(c)3, student-run, tuition-free company for students who are passionate about creating theatre.

All of our shows have been directed, choreographed, stage-managed and designed by high school students. Adults, professionals in all aspects of theater, are available as advisors and mentors to students, as well as serve on an advisory board to the company. The Free Theatre has existed completely on individual donations and grants since our inception. We are always looking for new avenues to keep us fully funded so that all students, regardless of financial means, may continue to attend tuition-free.

About Alice By Heart

First commissioned by London's Royal National Theatre in 2012, Steven Sater, Jessie Nelson, and Duncan Sheik's Alice By Heart is a fun yet tragic adaptation of the classic story Alice's "Adventures In Wonderland" by Lewis Carroll which was derived from "Alice's Adventures Underground", and first conceived as one of the many stories told by Carroll to his friend's daughters. The original tale has most certainly become some brand of fairy tale at this point and gave readers a look into how children viewed the adult world with all of its made up words, strange events, and rules the adults simply expected poor Alice to understand. This of course makes their eventual deconstruction in many different pieces of art an expected occurrence, and it of course eventually occurred in our current show, Alice by Heart. Heading "down the hole", Alice By Heart follows Alice, a teen girl who chooses to lose herself in the pages of her favorite book instead of facing the horrors of the London Blitz. Alongside the other survivors taking shelter in the London Underground, Alice is forced to face the reality of growing up and the changes time brings through a distinctly wondrous and strange lens. On our stage you'll witness what a "trial" it is to grow up and face the real world, while also learning that sometimes clinging to your past, although comforting, holds you back from living your best life. We hope this heartfelt tale and catchy score encourage the audience to allow themselves to grow from the past, rather than "dwelling in your shell of grief."

~ Ari Collins, Dramaturg & Jackson Hawkins, Asst. Dramaturg

Director's Note

In today's world, loss feels inescapable. Grief runs rampant on our streets, and lack of empathy is an epidemic ailing the entire planet. Despite being set in a different time period, in a different country, and sometimes a different world, Alice by Heart's messages about love and loss still ring true.

Since its Off-Broadway premiere in 2019, Alice by Heart has received very mixed reviews— some calling it “tangled” and “bewildering.” If I were to describe it, I'd quote the original source material:

“Curiouser and curiouser!” This show is happy, sad, silly and a bit confusing at times— but that's one of the reasons it reflects real life so well. As much as the production is about death, it's also about life. It's about holding onto hope despite all circumstances. It's about seeing love in everything, and using it to find a way through our darkest times. It's about accepting that without that darkness, there could be no light.

I implore you, watch this show with an open mind, but even more so an open heart. See yourself and your loved ones in the characters onstage as Alice sees her own. Follow our rabbit down the hole, and take a look at Wonderland. You might be surprised by what you find.

~ Zephyr Sanders, Director
